   Answer:

3. What obstacles are impeding your progress?
   Answer:
   I find myself stopping all the time, wondering if everyone is working and contributing. While doing so, I end up holding back on the work I can do just so I can include everyone in the project. There are things I could have done, but don't do in order to leave space for others to work as well. I spend more time considering doing more teaching rather than actually doing more work. But that's hard too because I have no clue where each individual is stuck because no one communicates their issues. I'm learning as I go too, man.
